A. INTRODUCTION

Octa Markets Cyprus Ltd (hereinafter the “Company”) has established, implemented, and maintains an effective Cookies Policy (hereinafter the “Policy”) to inform the visitors of the Company’s website, www.octa.eu.com, about the use of cookies. The use of cookies allows the Company to provide the Clients with a more relevant and effective experience when browsing the Company’s website and further allows the Company to improve the user experience of visitors of its website. All websites that operate within certain parts of the European Union are required to obtain consent when using or storing cookies on the Client’s computer and/or mobile device. The Policy provides comprehensive information about the cookies the Company uses and the way of using them. The Policy should be read in conjunction with the Company’s Privacy Policy.

B. WHAT IS A COOKIE

A cookie is a small piece of data/file that the Company stores on the Client’s browser or on the data storage hardware of the Client’s device, if he/she has enabled the relevant functionality from his/her browser to accept cookies. Cookies contain information that is transferred to the Client’s memory device. Cookies do not transfer viruses or malware to the Client’s device; therefore, cookies cannot affect the device, and they are updated each time the Client visits a website. Cookies are frequently used on many websites on the internet and the Client may choose what cookies to accept or decline by changing his/her preferences and options in his/her browser. Cookies used by the Company do not contain personal or other sensitive information and they are not used to identify the Client. When a Client and/or prospective Client access the Company’s website, a cookie is created and placed on the Client’s memory device. In addition to information related to authentication, information may be stored in the cookie in order to direct the Client to the correct site location.

C. HOW DOES THE COMPANY USE COOKIES?

The Company uses cookies to analyze how visitors use its website. Further, a cookie may be used to store the Client’s login preferences so that the website remembers the preferences when a Client logs into the Company’s website again. For example, cookies are used to save the Client’s website surfing preferences and to recall these Client’s preferences during his/her next visit on the Company’s website. The Company may share website usage statistics with reputable advertising companies and with its affiliated marketing companies. It is noted that the information collected by such advertising companies is not personally identifiable. This assists the Company to provide the Client with a good experience when he/she browses the Company’s website and allows them to improve the website. The Company may use third parties to track and analyze usage and statistical volume information for administration and improvement of its website. The third party may use cookies to track behavior and may set cookies on behalf of the Company. These cookies do not contain any personally identifiable information.

D. THE COMPANY USES THE FOLLOWING COOKIES:

- Essential cookies. These cookies are required for the operation of the Company’s website. They include, for example, cookies that determine the type of device used by the Client to access the website. This allows the website to be formatted accordingly.
- Analytical/performance cookies. They allow the Company to recognize and count the number of visitors and to see how visitors browse the Company’s website. In addition, they allow the Company
